22nd Annual Manufacturers' RV Show and Sale Ready to Roll!

Dear Friends,

After weathering one of the toughest years in industry history, we're planning a big return to the Alameda County Fairgrounds in January. Last year was one of the worst we'd ever seen--and we've been in the RV industry for nearly four decades. But the economy is showing signs of life, and we're happy to say that RVs are on the road to recovery.

In many ways, the turbulent economy actually helped RV buyers because dealers had to work for their dollars. Weak dealers who couldn't offer great prices were weeded out, and the rest were forced to focus on offering you quality products and step-up their customer service.

The recession was tough, but those of us who survived are stronger than before. Of course, that's not to say customers aren't still in the driver's seat. The 22nd Annual Manufacturers' RV Show and Sale, set to roar into Pleasanton on Jan. 22, 2010, will still be the best place for deals on new and used products.

For 10 days (Jan. 22-31, 2010), our indoor show will feature deals on all kinds of RVs, ranging from tent trailers to land yachts. You'll be able to peruse hundreds of RVs, all in a comfortable indoor setting.

We know things are still tough, but the fact remains that RVing is one of the most inexpensive vacation options. It's one of those buy now, save for years down the road situations. And for those of you who can buy now, this show gives you the most bang for your buck.

We look forward to seeing you soon!

Happy RVing,
